ROLE GUIDE 02

Factory HR

Job analysis for your unit's requisitions, CVs sent in to the recruiter, and the first interviews handed to you.

WHO THIS IS FOR

HR officers at each unit or factory who hold the Factory HR role.

SYSTEM
DBL HRM · Talent Hub

VERSION
1.6 · 15 October 2026

PREPARED BY
IT Department, DBL Group

CLASSIFICATION
Internal

© 2026 DBL Group. For internal use.

ABOUT THIS DOCUMENT

Document control

Document	Role Guide — Factory HR
System	DBL HRM · Talent Hub (talenthub.dbl-group.com)
Version	1.6 · 15 October 2026 · Describes the system as it is in production on this date
Prepared by	IT Department, DBL Group
Intended readers	Factory HR in every unit; Factory HR Heads; Head of Talent Acquisition.
Related documents	DBL HRM · System Workflow (master document) and the role guides for each participant.

CONTENTS

1 Your role at a glance 3

2 Access and signing in 3
How you get the role · Signing in · What you will see

3 Writing the job analysis 5
A shared queue · Step by step · Correcting section A · Returning it to the raiser

4 Sending CVs to the recruiter 6

5 Running first interviews 7
How candidates reach you · The board · Scheduling a session · On the day · Giving your verdict · Regret letters

6 Availability and what you can see 9
When you are away: availability and cover · What you can see

7 Notifications 9

8 Questions and answers 10

9 Quick reference 11

SECTION 1

Your role at a glance

IN SHORT

You have three jobs in the hiring process. First, every requisition raised in your unit comes to you before any approver sees it: you write its job analysis — section B of the requisition form — and attach the detailed job description. Your submission is what starts the approval chain.

Second, once the job is posted, you can send CVs you have collected locally to the recruiter. Third, the recruiter may hand shortlisted candidates to you to run their first interview at the factory.

WHAT YOU DO

- Write the job analysis for your unit's requisitions
- Correct section A details where needed
- Send locally collected CVs to the recruiter
- Run first interviews handed to you and decide who goes through

WHAT YOU DO NOT DO

- Approve requisitions — you are not an approval step
- Decide facilities, salaries or offers
- See the recruiter's full candidate pipeline
- Run second or final interviews

WHAT STARTS YOUR WORK

A raiser in your unit sends a requisition for job analysis; a job in your unit is posted; candidates are sent to you for interview.

WHO YOU HAND OVER TO

The approval chain (after job analysis); the Corporate Recruiter (CVs and finalists); your Factory HR Head (finalists, where your unit has one).

Where you fit in the hiring lifecycle

PHASE 1
Manpower Requisition
- Raise the requisition
- Job analysis
- Approval chain
- CHRO / Board (if escalated)

PHASE 2
Sourcing & CV Collection
- CV sources & recruiter
- Role profile & job posting
- CVs arrive from all channels
- AI screening & shortlist

PHASE 3
Assessment & Interviews
- Screening tests
- First interview
- Factory HR Head approval
- Second / final interview

PHASE 4
Selection & Salary
- Panel evaluation
- Salary fixation
- Mark as selected
- Regret letters

PHASE 5
Pre-employment & Onboarding
- Documents & facilities
- Medical clearance
- Board approval & offer
- Verification & joining

SECTION 2

Access and signing in

2.1 How you get the role

The Factory HR role is granted per unit by a super user on Configuration › Access Control. Each unit can have several Factory HR; their order (1st priority, 2nd priority …) is set on the HR Layering tab. The order labels people but does not route work — every on-duty Factory HR in the unit shares the queue.

Factory HR does not give access to Unit Configuration or to other units.

2.2 Signing in

1. Open the system
   Go to https://talenthub.dbl-group.com in Chrome, Edge or another current browser, on a computer or a phone.
2. Sign in
   Enter your DBL email address and password, then Sign in. Tick Remember me on your own device to keep your email filled in; your browser can save the password.
3. First sign-in or after a reset
   Your temporary password is your employee code. The system then asks you to choose your own password of 6 to 12 characters before you can continue.

- Forgot your password? Select Forgot password? on the sign-in page. A 6-digit code is emailed to you; it is valid for 10 minutes. Enter it, then set a new password. Every other session is signed out.
- Locked out? After 5 wrong passwords the account is locked for 15 minutes. A super user can also reset your password to your employee code.
- Two-factor authentication (recommended) is switched on under Account settings › Security — use an authenticator app or a code sent by email.
- Sessions last 24 hours; after that you sign in again. Signing out on one device does not sign you out anywhere else.

> No role, no sign-in
> The system lets a person sign in only while they hold at least one role. If you are told your account is not enabled for sign-in, ask Head of Talent Acquisition or a super user to check your access.

2.3 What you will see

Overview Dashboard
Job analyses waiting in your unit and your other open work.

Recruitment Requisitions
Your unit's requisitions in job analysis, ones you completed, and posted ones you can send CVs to.

My Work Assigned Candidates
Appears while candidates are handed to you for a first interview.

My Work My Interviews
Interviews where you sit on the panel and give marks.

Recruitment Organogram
Sanctioned, filled and vacant seats.

Header Availability button
Beside the bell: set leave so your work passes to colleagues.

SECTION 3

Writing the job analysis

Section B of the requisition: the job description, education, experience and other requirements, with the detailed job description attached.

Figure 1. The job-analysis stage. The status stays Job Analysis until you submit, including while a requisition is returned to the raiser.

3.1 A shared queue

When a raiser in your unit sends a requisition, every Factory HR for the unit who is on duty is notified and sees it. Any of you may open it and continue it. Each save that changes something is recorded under your name — "continuing from …" when it changes hands — and the panel shows Last worked on by, so nobody duplicates work.

3.2 Step by step

1. Open the requisition

   From the notification, the Dashboard, or Requisitions (status Job Analysis). It opens on the Job Analysis tab, with section A beside it for reference.

2. Write section B

   Complete Job description, Education & training, Experience and Others. To save time, use Draft this from the vacancy: the system drafts the four fields from section A and you review and edit them. Nothing is submitted until you choose to.

3. Attach files

   Attach the detailed job description and any other supporting files. Files can be added only at this stage — once submitted they are part of what the approvers sign.

4. Save as you go

   Save keeps a draft. A colleague can pick it up from where you left off.

5. Submit

   Select Submit for approval. The status becomes Pending Approval and the first approver in the raiser's chain is notified.

3.3 Correcting section A

If the vacancy information is wrong, select Edit vacancy information on the job-analysis panel. You can correct the designation, department, section, sub-section, line of business, vacant date, number of posts and dates. Each change is written into the requisition's history; the approval chain does not change.

3.4 Returning it to the raiser

If the requisition cannot be analysed as raised — the wrong post, missing replacement details — select Return to raiser, write what is needed, and confirm with Send back. The requisition is parked with the raiser; when they select Resend for job analysis, it returns to your unit's queue and you are notified.

> When no Factory HR is available
> If your unit has no Factory HR, or everyone is on leave, the job analysis falls back to Head of Talent Acquisition and the Corporate Recruiters. Where a Factory HR is on duty, only they (or a super user) may write it.

SECTION 4

Sending CVs to the recruiter

Once the recruiter publishes the job, the requisition's Profile & Posting tab gives you and your Factory HR Head a Send CVs to the recruiter panel, together with the public job link. Use Share job link to pass the link on, or Social post to copy a ready-made post for Facebook or LinkedIn.

1. Drop the CVs
   Drag one PDF, or up to 30, onto the panel (or browse for them).
2. Check the names
   One CV opens a short form; several open a list with names taken from the file names. Correct any name before sending.
3. Choose the source
   The source is required. Choosing Employee Referral asks only for the referring employee, picked from the directory.
4. Send
   Select Send CVs. The CVs land in the recruiter's pipeline as `Applied`, marked Factory HR · your name, and the recruiting side is notified.

Your own list shows what you have sent and how many times each person has applied before — the system matches the same email address or mobile number. Shortlisting is the recruiter's decision; the pipeline itself stays with the recruitment team.

> Every CV is read on arrival
> Each CV is read by the system on upload. It fills in a missing email address or phone number and records the candidate's gender; where automatic screening is switched on, it also scores the CV against the role profile for the recruiter.

SECTION 5

Running first interviews

Candidates the recruiter hands to you appear under My Work › Assigned Candidates.

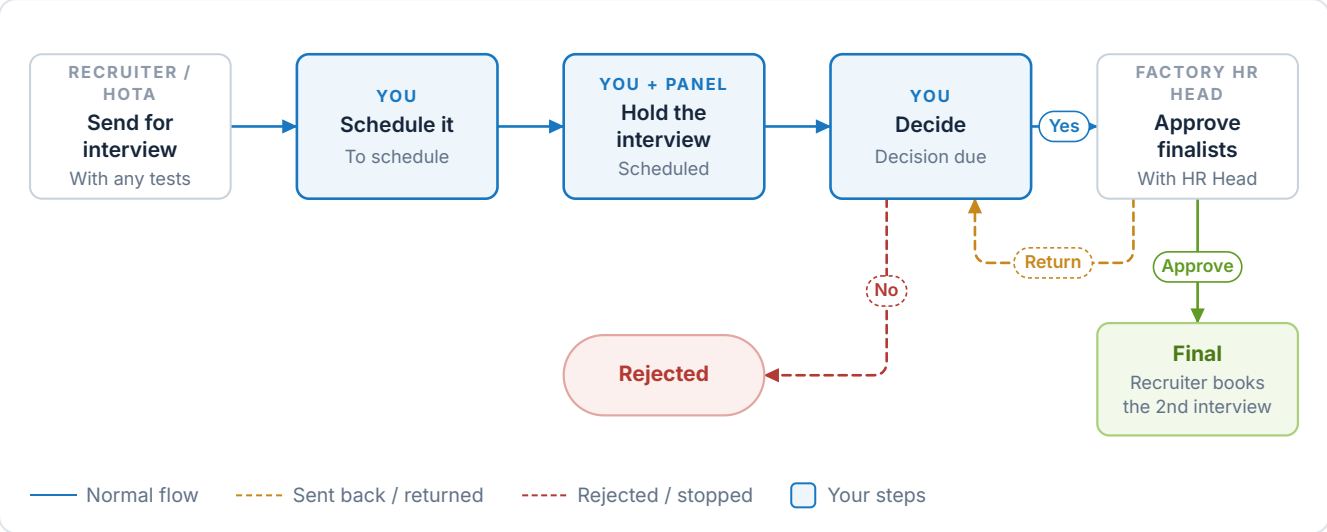

Figure 2. A first interview handed to you; the grey text under each step is its column on the Assigned Candidates board. In a unit without a Factory HR Head, "Yes" moves the candidate straight to Final. The Head may also reject.

5.1 How candidates reach you

The recruiter (or Head of Talent Acquisition) selects shortlisted candidates and uses Send for interview, naming you. You are notified and Assigned Candidates appears in your menu. You gain access to those candidates only — their CV and profile — and nothing else in the pipeline. The hand-off may say which screening tests apply (written, computer literacy, AI proficiency) and out of how many marks, and may carry a note.

While the candidate is with you, the interview is yours: the recruiter can see where it stands but cannot change it until you have given your verdict.

5.2 The board

Column	What is in it
To schedule	Candidates waiting for an interview date.
Scheduled	Interviews booked. Mark attendance, reschedule, enter test marks.
Decision due	Interviewed — say whether each candidate goes through.
With HR Head	Put through and waiting for your Factory HR Head.
Done	Decided: put through, or not taken forward. Regret letters are sent from here.

5.3 Scheduling a session

1. Pick the candidates
   Tick who goes into one session and select Schedule N selected — or Schedule all with none ticked.

2 Set the time and place

Enter the date and time — always Dhaka time (GMT+6). Choose Online (a Google Meet link is created) or in person, with the Location from the job-location list and the room.

3 Form the panel

Add panelists in two groups: From HR Department and From other departments. HR panelists also see and complete the candidate's facilities on the evaluation form.

4 Choose who hears

Under Candidate: Google Calendar (a calendar invite) and Email (DBL's own invitation). Under Panel: Notify. Each panelist receives a personal marking link.

5.4 On the day

- Each round asks "Did this interview happen?" Select Interviewed or Did not attend (with Undo if you mis-click). Did not attend disappears once anyone has marked the candidate.
- Reschedule moves an arranged interview: the candidate is emailed the new and old time, each panelist keeps their marking link, and the calendar event moves. It is not possible once anyone has marked.
- Enter written and computer-test marks if tests were assigned. A mark you enter is locked for you; only the recruiter or Head of Talent Acquisition can correct a genuine mistake.
- Panelists mark from their link or from My Interviews. You can see who has marked and each panelist's recommendation.

5.5 Giving your verdict

Under Decision due, select Decide: "Does the candidate go through to the final stage?" Every assigned test must be marked, or switched off for that candidate, first.

- Yes — remarks are optional. In a unit with a Factory HR Head the candidate goes to With HR Head for approval; otherwise straight to Final, and the recruiter is told to book the second interview. For a batch, use Send finalists to HR Head — the Head gets one email for the whole batch and can approve from it.
- No — a reason is required; it is what everyone downstream will see. You can tick Also send the regret mail at the same time.

If the Head returns a candidate, they come back to you with the Head's note: resend, or reject.

5.6 Regret letters

A rejected candidate can be sent DBL's standard regret letter. It is never sent automatically and goes only once per candidate. Send it with the rejection, from the candidate's card, or for a whole vacancy with Regret mail to N in the Done column.

SECTION 6

Availability and what you can see

6.1 When you are away: availability and cover

Beside the notification bell you have a round availability button with a coloured dot — green when you are on duty, amber when you are away. Only Factory HR and Corporate Recruiters have it, because only they carry work that someone else must pick up. You can also reach it from the account menu.

1. Set your leave
   Choose 3, 7 or 15 days, or pick your last day away, and add a note if useful. Then select Confirm leave.
2. Your queue passes on automatically
   While you are away you drop out of your unit's job-analysis queue: you are not notified, cannot write a job analysis, and waiting ones leave your list. The other Factory HR for the unit carry them; if nobody is available, Head of Talent Acquisition and the Corporate Recruiters do.
3. Come back
   Leave ends by itself on the date you chose. Back early? Select I'm back.

6.2 What you can see

- Requisitions in your unit waiting for job analysis (while you are on duty), and the ones you completed.
- Posted requisitions in your unit, so that you can send CVs to them — whether or not you are on leave.
- Candidates handed to you for a first interview, and the interviews where you are a panelist.

Holding Factory HR does not show you colleagues' other requisitions in the unit, the recruiter's pipeline, salaries or onboarding.

SECTION 7

Notifications

Everything that needs your attention arrives in three ways. The bell at the top right shows a count and a list; a new notification also plays a short sound and appears briefly on screen, and open pages refresh themselves — there is no need to reload. If Email notifications is on under Account settings › Notifications, the same notification is emailed to you.

Each morning the system also sends a reminder to anyone who has a requisition waiting on their approval or interview marks still to submit.

- A requisition in your unit is waiting for job analysis (and again when a raiser resends one).
- Candidates have been sent to you for a first interview.
- Your Factory HR Head approved, returned or rejected a finalist.
- A panel interview you sit on has been scheduled or rescheduled.

SECTION 8

Questions and answers

Q A colleague started the job analysis. Can I finish it?

Yes. Any on-duty Factory HR for the unit may continue it. The panel shows who last worked on it, and the history records the hand-over.

Q I am going on leave. What happens to the job analyses waiting for me?

Set your leave with the availability button. You drop out of the queue and your colleagues carry it; if nobody is available, Head of Talent Acquisition and the Corporate Recruiters do.

Q Why can I not attach a file after submitting?

Attachments belong to what the approvers sign. Ask Head of Talent Acquisition if something must be added later.

Q Why can I not change a test mark I entered?

Marks entered at the factory are fixed for the person who entered them, so that the record shows what the candidate scored. The recruiter or Head of Talent Acquisition can correct a genuine mistake.

Q The recruiter took a candidate back. Why?

The recruiter can withdraw a hand-off; it is recorded. After your verdict, the first round stays view-only and the recruiter books the second or final interview.

SECTION 9

Quick reference

A one-page summary you can print and keep beside you.

Factory HR — quick reference

JOB ANALYSIS

- Requisitions → status Job Analysis → Job Analysis tab
- Draft this from the vacancy, edit, attach the JD
- Save drafts · Submit for approval starts the chain
- Return to raiser with a note if it cannot be analysed

SEND CVS

- Posted requisition → Profile & Posting
- Drop 1–30 PDFs → check names → choose source
- Send CVs — they land as Applied for the recruiter

FIRST INTERVIEWS

- My Work → Assigned Candidates
- To schedule → Scheduled → Decision due
- Times are Dhaka time (GMT+6)
- Yes → HR Head (or Final) · No → reason + optional regret mail

AWAY?

- Availability button beside the bell
- 3 / 7 / 15 days or a chosen last day
- I'm back to return early