SECTION 1

1 Your role at a glance

IN SHORT

The Board is asked for a decision at two points, always by email. Each email carries a personal link: open it on a computer or phone, read what is in front of you, and approve or reject. You do not need an account password and you do not need to sign in.

When you are asked	Who asks	What you decide
A requisition needs the Board's approval	The CHRO, choosing which board members to ask	Approve or reject the requisition — the first member to answer decides
Selected candidates need final approval	Head of Talent Acquisition, after the CHRO approves the sheet	Approve or return the whole Hiring Approval Sheet — the first approval completes it

SECTION 2

2 Approving a requisition

Rare: only when the CHRO sends a requisition on to the Board.

1 The email

Subject: Board approval needed — REQ-... · designation. It comes from DBL's recruitment account and contains your personal link.

2 Open the link
You see the requisition — designation, number of posts, unit, department, place of posting, the date it is needed, who raised it, and the job analysis — with Approvals so far: who has signed at each level, and their remarks.

3 Decide
Select Approve, or Reject with a remark explaining why (a remark is required to reject).

- The first answer decides. If another board member has already answered, your link shows Already decided.
- The link is valid for 14 days. An expired link says so; ask the CHRO's office to send it again.
- Your decision is recorded on the requisition's approval chain under your name, exactly as an in-system approval would be.

SECTION 3

3 Approving a Hiring Approval Sheet

The usual case: final approval of candidates selected for posts.

1 The email
Subject: Board Approval Request — HAS-... (N candidates). The email itself shows the sheet as a table, so you can read it before opening anything. A reminder may follow if it is still waiting.

2 Open the sheet
Your link opens the Hiring Approval Sheet: for each candidate, Name, Position, Department, Unit, Education, Requirement, Team, Total experience, Last organisation, Salary and Remark.

3 Read the CVs
Select View CV on any row to open that candidate's CV. For a BDJobs applicant it opens the CV they attached (Personal CV), or, if they attached none, their application as a PDF (BDJobs CV).

4 Decide for the whole sheet
Approve all (remarks optional), or Return the sheet with a reason (required). Then confirm. A thank-you page confirms Sheet approved or Sheet returned.

Your decision	Effect
Approve	The sheet is complete. Every candidate on it is Board Approved, and HR can send their offer letters.
Return	The sheet stops and every candidate on it is rejected at this stage, with your reason recorded against each. Head of Talent Acquisition and the recruiter are told.

> One decision per sheet
> As on DBL's paper form, a sheet is approved or returned as a whole. If you object to one candidate, return the sheet with your reason; Head of Talent Acquisition can send a new sheet without that person.

Sheet links are valid for 60 days, and one board member's approval completes the sheet.

SECTION 4

4 Keeping it secure

- Your link is personal. Please do not forward it — anyone holding it could decide in your name.
- Each link opens one requisition or one sheet, nothing else in the system.
- Access to the CVs ends the moment you decide or the link expires.
- Every system email ends with the line "This is an automated email generated by the DBL Group Recruitment System. Please do not reply to this email." Replies are not read; contact the CHRO's office or Head of Talent Acquisition instead.

SECTION 5

5 Questions and answers

Q The link says it has expired.

Ask Head of Talent Acquisition (sheets) or the CHRO's office (requisitions) to resend it. A new link is issued.

Q The link says "Already decided".

Another board member has already answered. Nothing further is needed from you.

Q Can I change my decision?

Not from the link. Contact the CHRO or Head of Talent Acquisition, who can take it forward.

Q Can I see the candidates' CVs after deciding?

No — CV access closes when you decide. Head of Talent Acquisition can share a candidate's file if needed.

Q Do I need a password?

No. Board decisions are made from the personal link alone.
